

STICKLEY®

In the low-profile Surrey Hills Wood-Frame Sofa, you see a Mission Prairie Settle reimaged through an English Arts and Crafts lens in a way that feels thoroughly contemporary. Slab-like white oak arms wrap fully around the back to become a top rail, while the base rail appears to pass through the legs. The outside back panel and inside and outside arms are upholstered, and pairs of plush seat and back cushions—accompanied by two 20-inch throw pillows—are incredibly soft and comfortable, belying the sofa's architectural style.
