LIVE EDGE TOP & BASE COLLECTION

Our Live Edge Collection celebrates the natural beauty of solid wood, highlighting the unique grain and organic edges of each piece. Crafted from American Walnut, American White Oak, and Guanacaste, every table is one-of-a-kind—just like the tree it comes from. Live edge refers to the non-manufactured, "live sawn" edge of the slab, where the bark is removed but the natural contours of the log are preserved. Wavy edges, knots, and burls create a look that is both rustic and modern, with no two pieces alike. Available in 72", 84", and 109" tops, the collection adapts easily to dining or workspace settings with a variety of base options. Each table is finished with a conversion varnish topcoat for added protection. Custom tabletops are available for special projects, including both residential and commercial applications. We offer made-to-order sizes to meet your unique requirements.

LIVE EDGE WOOD SPECIES

American Walnut

American Walnut is known for its rich brown color, fine grain, and smooth texture. Our walnut tops are made from glued boards for strength and stability, preserving the wood's unique character. Crotch Walnut highlights the species' distinctive grain buckle and feathered pattern. Finished naturally and enhanced with River resin top options, which forms a "river" between live-edge slabs, available in Arctic and Charcoal options.

American White Oak

American White Oak is prized for its durability and attractive grain patterns. It features a light to medium brown color with a hint of golden undertones, and its prominent, open grain adds a distinctive texture to any piece. Our American White Oak tops are expertly crafted from glued up boards, ensuring stability and strength while preserving the natural character and warmth of the wood. This species is both strong and versatile, making it an excellent choice for furniture that balances style and longevity. Available in Natural (no finish color).

Guanacaste

Our Guanacaste tops are cut from a single tree, never glued up from separate pieces. This tropical hardwood showcases rich browns and golden hues, with swirling grain and dramatic character. Each expansive slab highlights the tree's natural beauty and offers a unique, seamless surface. Available in Natural (no finish color) and Heritage (slightly warmer tone) finish.
