Firth Office Chair Oat

Solid ash, a sculpted back, and a seat that rises to the occasion. A hydraulic seat adjusts from 18 to 22 inches, so the Firth fits your desk, your task, and your day. Oat solution-dyed polyester wears a warm, refined finish over a foam-and-fiber seat, set on a metal-and-plastic base with plywood support for everyday stability. A workday seat that looks the part well beyond the office.

- Refined Task Seating: A sculpted back and clean lines give the Firth a refined look that works in a home office or anywhere a chair earns its keep.
- Solid Ash Frame: A solid ash frame anchors the design with natural wood warmth, set on a sturdy metal-and-plastic base for everyday stability.
- Adjusts to You: A hydraulic seat raises and lowers from 18 to 22 inches, so the height meets your desk, your task, and your comfort.
- All-Day Comfort: A foam-and-fiber seat stays comfortable through long work sessions, keeping support steady from the first email to the last call of the day.
