A circular inset diagram showing a top-down view of the sample holder. It consists of a central vertical rod passing through a circular base. Two curved arrows around the base indicate that the base can rotate horizontally.

Adjustable Leveler

The diagram illustrates the assembly of the bed frame. It shows the headboard and footboard being attached to the slatted frame. A callout labeled 'Top Crown' points to the top rail of the headboard and footboard. A label 'H-I' is placed near the headboard and footboard, indicating the location of the headboard and footboard. The diagram shows the headboard and footboard being attached to the slatted frame using screws. The headboard and footboard are shown in a dashed line, indicating they are not yet fully assembled. The slatted frame is shown in a solid line, indicating it is the main component being assembled. The diagram shows the headboard and footboard being attached to the slatted frame using screws.
