The Lapine Blue Object, made of porcelain covered in an artful mix of reactive green and blue glazes, will sit pretty in a spot where its larger scale can be appreciated. The layering of the blue glazes over the green, which covers certain spots more than others, brings an added textural beauty to this sculpture, as does the gathering of the blue in places and the areas where the material remains unglazed. Because these are hand-glazed, each piece will vary slightly.
