Pata Decorative Vessel

A journey through time, these vessels are handmade in the northern coastal city of Chulucanas, Peru using techniques dating back 1500 years. Each piece is individually formed, slip-decorated, then hand-burnished with a special stone to create a subtle luster. A distinct smokey scent lingers inside from the kiln fire it is born from. The Pata decorative vessel is smooth and textured with an eye-catching three-tiered shape showcasing the clay's versatility, breathing the beauty of ancient forms into any living space.
