KIMLER COUNTER HEIGHT DINING TABLE - COMPLETE

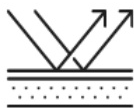

Counter height dining (also referred to as gathering height) has been a growing trend in dining room interior design. It places the table surface at the same 36 inch height as modern kitchen counter tops. That makes it half-way between standard dining height (30") and bar height (42"). This height works great in open concept or kitchen spaces since it is comfortable for dining or simply entertaining in the kitchen. The Kimler counter height table makes it even better by adding a casual finish and all the benefits of solid wood construction. It also features our Kinguard Performance Finish which helps to protect the top in case of a spill.

- Adjustable levelers
- New Zealand Pine

Solid Wood - Made using genuine solid wood construction

Kinguard Performance Finish - Featuring exclusive Kinguard Performance Finish for added protection against watermarks and spills
