FAUX BOIS KNOW-HOW

Hairline cracks occur and are part of the natural beauty and uniqueness of each piece. These are part of the natural curing process of concrete, but they do not affect durability or structural integrity because of the steel frame underneath.

The finish will vary and range from gray to brownish to greenish. The finish will continue to change over time, and over the first few months it will darken slightly.

Each piece is created by hand, and the texture and appearance of the concrete can vary.

Made of steel that has been dexterously covered in concrete, the Higham Cocktail Table is weighty and earnest. In a Polished Concrete finish, this concrete table is built to endure and can be placed in the garden or indoors. We also offer the Higham in a accent table.
