DEFINING ORIGINAL™

Think of the word "original". What comes to mind? New, novel, creative? Perhaps ingenious, or maybe innovative? For nearly 20 years, Salamander Designs® has been "Defining Original" in audio/video furniture. To us, "Defining Original" is more than just a slogan. It is a way of life. It permeates everything we do, and it's a part of every piece of furniture we make.

Our design philosophy encompasses a systems approach that fuses visual design, functional engineering, and advanced manufacturing processes to yield high quality results. Finished cabinets are built to order in the USA, and with our quick ship program most will ship within three days.

Throughout our history we have designed highly flexible and customizable furniture solutions intended to offer a huge number of choices in materials, finishes, colors, fabrics, and performance options. By integrating such a high level of customization throughout our product line, anyone can become an active participant in creating their own unique furniture designs.

It's a pretty different way of looking at furniture design. Instead of "one-size-fits-all" everyone gets exactly what fits them.

Of Course the Environment is Important Too...

We use environmentally responsible manufacturing practices. All our furniture products are made from sustainable materials. Our woods are harvested from managed forestry programs, composite materials comply with rigorous air quality standards, and furniture frames are made from energy-efficient recycled aluminum. We build for life, not for landfills. To learn more, visit us online.
