Warby Outdoor Bistro Table Faux Travertine

The look of travertine, the resilience of concrete — Warby brings both to the bistro table. An innovative water-transfer process patterns stone-like veining onto a concrete and fiberglass body, giving the table organic character and a playful, sculptural form. Because it's concrete at heart, it shrugs off sun and rain and stays steady through the seasons. In a faux travertine finish, it sets the scene for morning coffee or an evening drink, ready for easy outdoor living.

- Concrete and Fiberglass: A concrete and fiberglass body gives the bistro table genuine heft and solidity, grounding it outdoors with the substance of true stone.
- Travertine, Reimagined: A water-transfer process patterns stone-like veining across the surface, giving the table the look of natural travertine with a playful, organic form.
- Faux Travertine Finish: A faux travertine finish carries the soft, warm tone and veining of natural stone, bringing neutral, organic character to a patio.
- Set for the Season: Water-resistant and weather-ready, this compact bistro table sets the scene for coffee or drinks on a balcony, patio, or deck.
