A fresh take on vintage design, the charming Charleston Bench is crafted of wood and accented by cane on the back and inside and outside arms. Featuring intricately-shaped legs, the piece is finished in Haint Blue, a soft color which can be found on the ceilings of porches and entryways, window shutters and doors in the American South, dating back more than 200 years from the Gullah folklore that held the color kept “haints” or spirits from entering homes and dwellings. The cushion is upholstered in the Oyster performance fabric for stain resistance and cleanability.
