Goodwin Modular Sofa Cognac

Low-slung, big-armed, and unapologetically seventies—with a contemporary turn. Oversized rounded arms in cognac upholstery give the Goodwin sofa a sculptural frame that feels substantial and stays inviting, and an angled architectural base keeps the shape relaxed. Feather and faux feather fill settles into lived-in softness over webbing suspension, so the cushions have a broken-in ease from day one. Modernist lines, softened at every edge—and rearranged whenever the room asks.

- Seventies Lines, Rounded Arms: Oversized rounded arms and a low profile bring seventies modernist shape to this modular sofa, with softly curved edges keeping the geometry approachable.
- Warmth in the Weave: Cognac polyester upholstery covers the arms, seat, and back in one warm, saturated tone, giving the rounded shape a single continuous surface.
- Sink-In Support: Feather and faux feather fill tops webbing suspension over a plywood frame, so the seat feels soft on contact and stays supported underneath.
- Rearrange at Will: Separate modules move independently, so you can reset the layout as the room changes, from one long run to a tighter corner grouping.
